

It seem to me that the NAB fears a little competition. Sattellite radio is an excellent alternative to the bland, boring drivel that the NAB and it's affiliates pump out on the American airwaves fay in and day out. If the American punlic wish to pay to recieve their audio content, then they should be able to recieve any and all content that they desire, from local traffic and weather to adult subject matter.

Do not let the NAB muscle the sattellite radio buisiness into a corner, support their rights to free speech!
